

Various Projects 1

Low table, late seventies, teak, designed by N. Scott

A sample of projects completed over a 20 year period, designed by myself and by others.

My pieces show the evolution of my design sensibility. The earlier work makes greater use of traditional joinery techniques and shows an oriental influence. The later pieces show an increasing interest in pure modernism and use of non-wood materials.

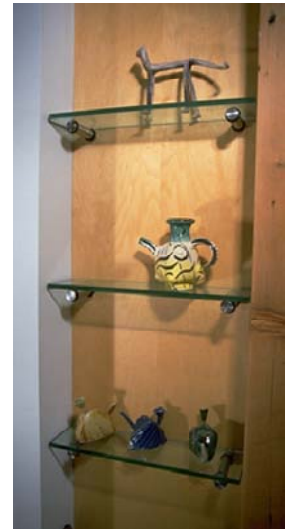

Through most of these projects there has been the classic process of negotiation and compromise with my clients. The work designed by others is included to show my workmanship on challenging projects.

T. V. table; late nineties; cherry veneers, stainless steel, and sandblasted glass; designed by N. Scott

A/v cabinet, late nineties, honduras mahogany, designed by N. Scott

Shelving; late nineties; maple, stainless steel, glass; designed by N. Scott

Low bench; early eighties; satin walnut; designed by N. Scott

Kitchen; late nineties; curly ash veneers, stainless steel; designed by Javier Campos

Various Projects 2

Kitchen; early nineties; plastic laminate on oak edged substrate, oak plywood, (I built all the windows and doors for this project as well); designed by N. Scott

Display cabinets; mid-nineties; (above) ash and figured sapele, (below) cherry - solid and veneers, copper, aluminum; designed by Chachkas

Dining table; early nineties; red oak and ebony; designed by N. Scott

Library check out counter; mid-nineties; birch ply, steel, Marmoleum; designed by Patkau Architects